"Ganesha Goes to Lunch offers a code for living that can be applied to the modern world. These stories reveal timeless insights into the human condition."
—THE TIMES OF INDIA

An Indo-American poet and writer, KAMLA K. KAPUR is the author of two critically acclaimed books of poetry, As a Fountain in a Garden and Radha Sings. She divides her time between living in a remote area of the Himalayas and San Diego.

Rumi's Tales from the Silk Road A Pilgrimage to Paradise

KAMLA K. KAPUR

Inspired by Rumi, Kamla K. Kapur set about reworking translations of thirty of his stories—tales of wit, wisdom, and faith. The basis for Kapur's stories is Rumi's six-volume Mathnawi, as translated from Persian by Reynold A. Nicholson. Kapur sought to bring the dense, intimidating volume into a more readable form—putting her own spin on the stories, yet remaining true to Rumi's vision.

- ◆ 30 thought-provoking tales from Rumi's Mathnawi
- ◆ New renditions based on the classic Reynold A. Nicholson translations

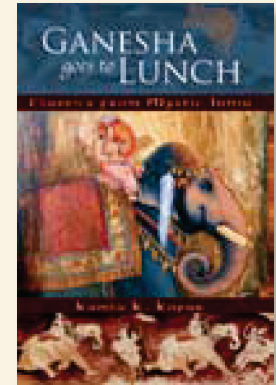

"Kapur's singular ability breathes new and profound life into these mystical, mythic tales."

Ganesha Goes to Lunch

Classics from Mystic India
Kamla K. Kapur

This accessible collection of ancient India's most insightful and philosophical tales and myths celebrates both well-known stories and gems not readily known to Western readers. These tales of the gods of India, human struggle, and the interactions between gods and humans encapsulate life's essential truths. The collection contains adaptations from the Mahabharata, the Ramayana, the Puranas, and the Vedas stories. Acclaimed writer Kamla K. Kapur brings her poet's eye and ear to the retelling of these stories, recreating and dramatizing them to illuminate their modern-day relevance.
